Keynote Speaker

Flojaune G. Cofer, PhD, is the Director of State Policy and Research at Public Health Advocates and holds a doctorate in epidemiological science/women's health and a Master of Public Health from the University of Michigan. Dr. Cofer focuses on women's and children's health, and on translating scientific evidence to policy. Last year, Dr. Cofer was awarded the Sacramento Cultural Hub's Exceptional Women of Color Award, and the Sacramento Business Journal named her one of their "40 under 40" recipients.

Workshop Facilitator

Mia K. Dawson is a master's student in the Geography Graduate Group at UCD and an organizer with Black Lives Matter Sacramento. She studies the applications of geographic technology to promote social justice in environmental decision-making. She is passionate about decolonizing education and building direct community control of governance.

GDOPx events are designed to help graduate students overcome barriers to success and network with a community at UC Davis committed to addressing diversity issues in higher education.
